The closing concert of Prof. Wayland Graham's music class will take place at the Opera House on the evening of June 8th, and promises to be the best he has yet favored our people with. A fine programme of music will be furnished for the small admission fee of 10 cents, and a large audience should certainly be present.

On the evening of June 14th he will give the opera of Mikado, the characters being represented by the best amateurs of the city, in full costume. This is the greatest treat in store for our music-loving citizens in the near future, and the date should be born in mind.

The closing exercises of Eminence College commence to-morrow morning with Baccalaureate sermon by Elder W. J. Loose, of the Christian Church; Monday and Tuesday the examination of classes will take place at the College; Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock exercises of the Philomathean Society, at Helm Hall; Wednesday afternoon, concert by the vocal and instrumental music class; Wednesday night, rendition of "Love's Labor Lost;" Thursday morning and afternoon, commencement exercises; Thursday night, levee at the College Grounds. There will be eleven graduates this year—seven young ladies and four young gentlemen.

One of the best gardens, and the most scientifically managed, we have seen lately is that of Mr. D. M. Woodson, a mile from the city on the Owen-ton pike. His strawberry beds are large and loaded with the finest berries we have ever seen raised in this section, many of them being 1 1/2 inches in diameter, and perfectly delicious. His raspberry bushes of several different varieties are very full and give promise of an immense crop, while his grape vines, currant bushes and other small fruit are equally as promising, to say nothing of his vegetables. Everything is kept up to a mathematical line and as neat as can be, and notwithstanding Mr. Woodson is but an amateur in the business, few professionals can show a better or more prolific garden than he has.

Friday night about ten o'clock a colored man by the name of Andrew Millian was found dead in the back yard of his home in Battle Alley, with a pistol ball in his brain. He was found by his mother-in-law, Kittle Dudley, who gave it out that he had committed suicide. Coroner Phythian was notified, had the body removed to the Court-house, and on Saturday morning impaneled a jury and began an investigation. The jury remained in session until Tuesday morning, when, after having examined a number of witnesses, the following verdict was returned:

We, the jury, find that the body now before us is that of Andrew Millian, who came to his death by a pistol shot wound on the 21st of May, in the hands of Kittle Dudley. That James Dudley, Sam. Kees, and others were accessories and co-conspirators to the killing and murder.

W. S. DEHONEY, Foreman.

Jim and Kittle Dudley, the father-in-law and mother-in-law of the murdered man, Belle Millian, his wife, and Sam. Kees were all arrested and lodged in jail. The parties had an examining trial before Judge Thomson, which resulted in Kittle Dudley being held over in $250 to the Circuit Court, and the others were discharged.

It appears from the evidence that Millian and his wife had a lively little row in the afternoon, when he threw a coal-oil lamp at her, and in which the mother-in-law took a hand, remarking afterward that if Millian came back there any more that either she or he would eat breakfast in hell, and was seen carrying a pistol around in her hand.

A bill to pension Mrs. Letitia Garrard, of this city, on account of her son, Capt. Dan. Garrard, of the 22d Kentucky Infantry, who was killed in front of Vicksburg in 1863, has been passed by Congress.

Announcement.

At Excelsior Institute, on the evening of June 7th, will be given the annual exhibition of the Society of Alpine Climbers, the programme consisting of a series of tableaux and conversational scenes from English history.

The commencement exercises will be held on the following Wednesday morning, beginning at ten o'clock. Address: "Reminiscences of Bethany College," by James Fall. All invited to attend on both occasions.

B. R. Webber, who resides near Harvieland, this county, while under the influence of liquor, Saturday afternoon, went to the livery stable of Messrs. Brawner & McDaniell, in Belle Point, and wanted to hire a buggy to take himself and two others to Bald Knob, when Mr. C. Hundley, who was in charge of the stable, told him he could not let him have a buggy for the purpose, but would hire a Jersey wagon and furnish a driver. But Webber insisted on having a buggy, began to abuse Hundley, and finally knocked him down. Hundley drew his pocket knife while on the ground, caught Webber by the pants and pulled himself up with one hand while with the other he began to use his knife, cutting Webber three times in the abdomen, one cut letting out the bowels. Notwithstanding the serious nature of his injuries, Webber walked over to the office of Dr. S. F. Smith, where the bowels were replaced and the wounds dressed by Drs. Smith and Phythian. He has been doing very well ever since and will soon be all right. Hundley will have an examining trial Monday.

Bald Knob.

Mrs. Mary Brewer, wife of Mr. John Brewer, is recovering after a severe fall from a lighted horse.

Col. Henry Harrell, the zealous school patron, is making strenuous efforts to make the Association a success.

Mr. Lawrence Bailey, of Caldwell county, Kansas, attended the burial of his venerable father, Edmund Bailey, at Bailey's Mill.

Bald Knob has always been clean and healthy. The sickness last year was from natural causes and not from filth as reported.

The four lovely young girls who excel in education are Nora Hoover, Lizzie Brawner, Minnie Brawner and Miss Susan Harrell.

Mr. B. T. Slattery and lady will please accept thanks for punctual carriage and delivery of last report to the ROUNDABOUT.

The loss sustained by Mr. John A. Bell by the burning of his Hutton Depot is deeply deplored at the Knob. There are but few such good men as Uncle John.

Capt. W. Tracy, who is the light of Pea Ridge, in company with Uncle Trip and other friends, came here on last Sunday to worship in our Grand Union S. S.

Mr. Harry Quire has a field of corn about three feet high. Harry is an expert farmer and may probably fodder the coming Teachers' Association on roasting ears.

Mrs. Colman, wife of Mr. John Colman, of Owen, brought two large spiders from Texas, one of which bit her on the middle finger while making her bed. She lived but a few hours after.

Rev. Dr. Wilson, of the Christian Church, and Rev. J. Graves, of the Baptist, delivered such an impressive address before a dense and attentive audience at the Union on last Sunday.

Mr. Harry Quire caught a heron below his dwelling that stands four feet high. The bird at first was cross and sullen, but with gentle treatment has become as tame as a chicken. Harry engages all the small fry after school hours to catch minnows for him.

Pea Ridge.

Grass plentiful.
Wheat first-rate.
Corn up and looking well.

Little Anna Crutcher, who was so unfortunate as to break her arm last week, is progressing finely.

Pea Ridge Sunday-school has joined the Kentucky Sunday School Union, and will be represented by a full delegation in the State Convention which assembles in Frankfort next August.

Faint echoes occasionally reach the Ridge of the grand concerts with full orchestra and chorus and scenes of festal magnificence which seems to be the normal condition of affairs at Bald Knob. Pleasant musical meetings of this kind do much to blind people together in friendship and soften the asperities of life. Pea Ridge congratulates the Knob on having some persons with courage to commence and ability to continue a series of enjoyable occasions.

Wealth or its possession is a blessing in disguise. Though it often makes fools of its owners and causes them to do things of which they are ashamed, much may be said in its favor. It will often help a man out of trouble when nothing else can, and as often leads him in. Wealth often transforms a good citizen to a poor one, that is one who is of no real use to the Commonwealth; being possessed of wealth the people must furnish a guard to protect that wealth, and still he fears a loss, while the man who has nothing but what he can guard himself sleeps without bolts, locks or bars, and burglars, strikes, riots and robbers have no terrors for him. Wealth makes the capitalist think he is better than the laborer, opinions differ, strikes follow. Each one is necessary to the other, and as neither gains by a strike, neither is happy, but then

Of all the trades in town, sir,
The beggar's is the best,
Because when he gets tired
He can lay him down and rest.

W. C. T. U. Notes.

Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet as usual next Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock in the chapel of the Christian Church.

The "hour of prayer" Thursday last, though not largely attended on account of the storm, was, to those present, interesting and pleasant. The assurance is given where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst. The prayers of earnest Christian women in every State and Territory in the United States mingled with ours in a petition to Almighty God for his blessing on our work. Thanks of the Union are due to Miss Kate Mangan and Miss Mary McEwan for their valuable assistance in the music.

Blood Poison.

About a year ago I had blood poison, and it attacked my throat in a very severe form. I got a physician to treat me, and for three months he burned my throat out every day. During the last three weeks I was under his care it was almost impossible for me to swallow even a spoonful of water. I was reduced to 101 pounds in weight, and the doctor told me I could not live.

I gave up my medicines and began taking Spitt's Specific, using the gargle directed in the circular. It was with great difficulty I could swallow the medicine, though it was pleasant to the taste; but I persevered in it, and in three weeks I could not from my feelings tell that my throat ever was affected, could swallow anything. I wished without the slightest difficulty, and seemed entirely well. I continued the medicine, and in less than four months I had gone up in weight sixty nine pounds, now weighing 170 pounds. This may sound bold to some, but if I by doubling will write to me or any one in Boonton, they can easily have the truthfulness of my statement established.

GEORGE A. LEWIS.

Editor and Publisher.

FRANKFORT, MAY 29, 1886.

Death of Mr. J. B. Temple.

Mr. John B. Temple, for many years a prominent citizen of this city, died at his home in Louisville, at six o'clock Thursday morning of heart disease. For twenty odd years he was cashier of the Farmers' Bank in this city, and no man who ever lived here was more universally honored and respected than he. He was thrice married, his second wife being a daughter of the venerable Rev. Philip Fall, and his last wife, who, together with several children, still survives him, was Miss Blandina Broadhead, of this city. He was a leading member of the First Presbyterian Church, in which he was a Ruling Elder during nearly the whole of his residence here. In 1868 he removed to Louisville and accepted the position of vice-President of the Southern Mutual Insurance Company, and a few years later was elected President, which position he held at the time of his death. In his demise Louisville has lost a valuable citizen, the Presbyterian Church a pillar of strength, and an upright Christian gentleman has been called to reap the reward of a well spent life.

The funeral took place in Louisville yesterday afternoon and the remains will be brought to this city on the 10:20 train this morning and interred in the family lot in the Cemetery. The remains will be taken directly from the depot to the grave.

Mr. George Buhr has been bothered with rats about his Hotel for some time and to get rid of the pests purchased a fine shot rifle, with which he instructed his bar-keeper, Mr. Albert Heint, to shoot them. Now shooting rats is a favorite amusement with Albert, and indulging in that sport several years ago he sent a pistol ball into his wrist. But in following Mr. Buhr's instructions, he became quite an expert marksman, and was desirous of exhibiting his skill. So one afternoon last week he called a few friends to the bar-room, loaded his rifle and telling them to watch how he could send a bullet through the head of the picture of a woman upon a pasteboard calendar hanging upon the iron net work above the desk in the office, he stepped back to the end of the room, took steady aim and fired. The bullet went true to the mark, for it pierced the calendar where Albert intended, but it did more. It sped on across the office striking the large plate glass windows, making a small hole and a very large star around it in its passage, whistled by the ear of Jesse Hocker, the porter, who was sweeping off the front pavement and sprinkled him with glass in such manner that the old man really thought he was assassinated, and exclaiming "Dar now, somebody's done shot me," he was making preparations to lie down and give up the ghost, when those who witnessed the shooting came out and convinced him that he was uninjured. Mr. Buhr is now uncertain which will be the best thing to do—put up bomb proofs to protect his windows or cage Albert.

The Storm.

The frequent occurrence of destructive wind and thunder storms in this section is something remarkable, and it looks very much like this was fast becoming a storm center. On Sunday afternoon we were visited by a heavy wind and rain storm which unroofed a portion of one of the warehouses and the elevator of Messrs. E. H. Taylor, Jr., Co., at Taylorton, and on Thursday afternoon a thunder storm occurred, which occasioned more damage by lightning than has been done here in years. The bell tower of the First Presbyterian Church was struck, knocking off one of the projections on the corner and tearing a hole some ten feet square in the slate roof, but fortunately the interior of the building was not damaged, except by the rain, which is not serious. A tree in the Cemetery, under which two valuable Jersey cows belonging to Mr. Wm.

Cralk, the Superintendent, were lying, was also struck, and both of the cows killed, and it is a remarkable fact that this is the third tree that has been struck by lightning in the same locality in the last few weeks. A bolt also descended between the eastern-room of the Carlisle Distillery of Messrs. E. H. Taylor, Jr., Co., and one of their warehouses, the fluid passing down the leg of Mr. Jacob Cox, who was at work in the warehouse, tearing his shoe to pieces and shocking him considerably, while Peter Belle, a colored man who had been at work on the river, and had come up and taken refuge in the warehouse out of the storm, was knocked senseless, and it required some ten or fifteen minutes' hard work by the hands employed about the distillery to bring him to. One of the whisky tubs in the eastern room was also set fire to but the flames were promptly extinguished by Mr. R. M. Grant, Superintendent of the establishment. We have also heard that a number of sheep belonging to a farmer residing near the city were also killed, but were unable to learn the truth of the rumor.

The banquet given to Frankfort Commandery, No. 4, Knights Templar, at Buhr's Hotel, Thursday night, by Sir Knights Jas. A. Murray, V. A. Kaltenbrun, and Henry Wilson, the three principal officers of the Commandery, was an elegant affair, and one which will be long remembered by those present. The Sir Knights, together with invited guests, assembled at their Asylum in the Odd Fellows' Temple, and at 8 o'clock marched in a body to the Hotel, preceded by Snider's Brass Band. After a half hour spent in pleasant conversation in the parlors of the Hotel and in listening to the sweet music of the band, they repaired to the dining room and partook of an elegant supper gotten up in George Buhr's best style. At the close of the banquet toasts were given and responded to as follows: The Commonwealth of Kentucky, by his Excellency, Gov. J. Proctor Knott, in a short but eloquent speech; the Grand Encampment of the United States, by Very Eminent Sir W. LaRue Thomas, of Lexington, Grand Senior, Warden of that body, in his usual happy style; Canton Berry, No. 6, I. O. O. F., by Chevalier George W. Roock, in a few brief and well timed remarks; Ryan Commandery, No. 17, by Sir Knight W. E. Grubbs, of Danville, also in a brief speech; the Grand Commandery of Kentucky, by Sir Knight John W. Pruett, Grand Senior Warden, in one of the eloquent impromptu addresses for which he is famous.

The banquet was then dissolved, the Commandery formed and marched back to the Asylum, where they were dismissed.

The number of casualties from lightning in this city and vicinity this spring may be accounted for by the fact that a colony of lightning rods men located in South Frankfort several months since, who congratulate themselves on having a special dispensation of Providence in their behalf.

The ladies of Belle Point will give a festival in that Fauburg on Tuesday evening, the last inst., to raise funds to assist in the completion of the Free Christian Chapel and school-house in that place. In the capacity of beer runner he went to a whisky tub, to make an examination of its contents, when the gas ignited from a candle he had in his hand and flashed up in his face. He is able to be at work again, however, his injuries not being of such a character as to lay him up for more than a day or two.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

Polgrove.

We are still living.

Curtis Austin, M. D., was here last week. Doctor practice is good.

Dr. John G. Birchett was in our little city last week. Come again, Doc.

J. B. Sanford and Jas. McDonald were in Frankfort several days last week.

Preaching last Sunday by Rev. J. A. Head, of Monterey. A large concourse of people out.

Miss Belle Hardin, of Monterey, was visiting her sister, Mrs. J. B. Sanford, several days last week.

William Hitehouse, while cutting oats for his horse, accidentally got one of his thumbs badly cut.

W. H. Vorles and Wm. Combs and families, of Monterey, were the guests of J. B. Sanford and wife last week.

There has been some tobacco planted in this county and corn is doing well. In fact everything is in a promising condition.

John K. Wilhoit, better known as "Fish-er," drew a premium of $1,000 or near it last week. We are glad to see Fisher so fortunate.

We have had a number of gentlemen from Eminence and New Castle fishing with us during the past two weeks. They report fishing good.

The good people of this place have re-organized their Sunday-school, which they say, is in a prosperous condition. Meets every Sunday at 8 p. m.

We understand that there will be several steamers in the Kentucky river trade in a short time. We will be glad to see them and wish them all success.

We had a gentleman to come down last week, and he intended to open an art gallery here, but as the climate didn't suit him he immigrated in his canoe.

Hatton.

MAIN STREET, HATTON, KY.

Dear Uncle: Your Nephew is somewhat indisposed. I've had the double breasted black agonies for two weeks. Boneset has fixed me all right. Mrs. Zeke and the little Zeke are all well. Very little sickness.

Mrs. Hartford has been very sick. She is now improving.

Mad dogs are doing their deadly work. On the 22d of May there were not less than 25 persons bitten, and the poison took effect the same day. Some froth at the mouth, some vomited, some of the poor fellows' eyes were crossed, some yelled like demons.

I know it was caused by a mad dog bite. I will give you my reasons. Dear nephew, some of the poor unfortunate were Baptists; you know they would never get drunk. They are proverbial for sobriety.

One of the numbers of the grand jury were Campbellites. They, too, had the line in the wrong place. They will be sent at once to the Pasture for treatment.

Mad stones were not sick. Some one of them, when in a fit, took Mr. Bell's Express Book away with him. Any one returning it will receive his thanks.

HATTON IMPROVING.

A new store has been opened here, located on Water street, by Lewis Lee, who has a nice lot of groceries and dry goods very cheap.

The Delivery Post-office is nearly completed. Hinges for the door are all it lacks for business.

Mrs. H. C. Young's house is about completed.

Mrs. Mollie Church, of Franklin county, who has been visiting Mr. J. A. Bell and lady, has returned home.

The depot at this place was destroyed by fire. The origin of the fire is unknown. The building was insured in the Prescott, of Connecticut.

Crops.

Wheat fine. Cut worms and grasshoppers are destroying the tobacco and corn. Supposed to be a curse sent on the people for electing such a Legislature.

BARNUM.

The hearts of the people of Kentucky are overflowing with gratitude to the greatest showman on earth for taking in his employ the Members of the Legislature. All but 25 were employed by Barnum.

NEWS FROM NEW LIBERTY, OWEN COUNTY.

The druggists' wives and children of that place have all gotten well since the Governor vetoed the bill taking candy Julice from the free people of that delighted section of the State.

The druggists of New Liberty will be for the Governor's veto to the Legislature. This is the last communication you will receive from Zeke Yocum, for the present at least. The Knox delegation were out in force Saturday, hunting me with shot-guns. Did not learn the cause. My friends tell me that I have enough sense to set traps and traps for them.

How are the Swire getting along with their vineyard?

The juke gathered up from Bald Knob, Forks Eikhorn, Peck's Mill, Bridgeport and other precincts are on sale at Mr. Ballou's, Frankfort, Ky., at 30 cents per dozen.

From your sick uncle,

ZEKE YOCUM.

Forks of Eikhorn.

Farmers are busy setting tobacco plants.

The sick reported last week are improving.

We had quite a storm last Sunday evening. No damage done.

Thanks to Mr. Conney Harper for subscribing to the ROUNDABOUT.

Mr. Louis Hockersmith and wife spent last Friday and Saturday with Mr. Dave Hockersmith, near Peak's Mill.

Mr. LeCompte and his son, Owen, will give an entertainment to-night at Bald Knob; and next Saturday night at Woodlake. All who have not witnessed Master Owen in his magnetic feats should go and see him.

Sad news reached here last Sunday morning, from Louisville, which caused this entire neighborhood to mourn. It was the death of Mrs. L. Williams, wife of Bro. W. J. Williams, Pastor Providence Church. She leaves an infant son only a few weeks old.

We weep to know that she is gone. With us she'll be no more! Until the resurrection morn Upon the shining shore.

Messrs. Ford and Mutter's Opera of Lena, was well attended last night.

The smiling face of Mr. G. P. Graham was in our village last week, the first time for several months. Come again, G. P. Glad to see you.

Messrs. Joe Duval and Jim Harp are the boss fishermen. On last Saturday they each caught a very large cat fish. Mr. Harp's weighed ten pounds. Yours, G. P. Graham.

One of our young gentlemen left last week to engage in business elsewhere. He said farewell and proceeded sorrowfully on his journey. He had traveled about three miles when he met a little boy, so he sat down and wrote her a letter. Alas! Alas! that hearts so devoted should be separated. The maiden still remains disconsolate.

Antioch.

Preaching the 1st Sunday at 11 a. m. The recent storms did us no damage.

Mrs. Mastin had a very valuable cow to die last Saturday. Too much clover.

The beaux and belles of Antioch turned out en masse to see Barnum. Even the old folks went too.

There will be a lecture given at the Antioch Church on the 1st Sunday (the 6th) at 7:45 p. m. Everyone invited.

We have a young lady friend that can beat any of the boys or girls either fishing. We don't blame the fish for biting at her hook. We would were we a fish.

Bald Knob must prepare to receive a large crowd on the 12th of June from what we hear. We learn that the President has succeeded in getting some of the Frankfort teachers to be present and take part in proceedings. Antioch, won't you go?

We take pleasure in stating that Miss Nannie Browder, Miss Louie Ward, Col. John L. Scott and Col. Thomas B. Ford will be at Bald Knob on the 12th, and take part in the proceedings of the meeting. We want every friend of the common schools to be present on that day, especially the teachers and trustees of the Bald Knob and Flat Creek precincts. Turn out and make it a day long to be remembered as the happiest and greatest day of your life.

T. HUNTER.

Pres. F. C. T. A.

An Efficient Remedy

In all cases of Bronchial and Pulmonary Affections is AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. As such it is recognized and prescribed by the medical profession, and in many thousands of families, for the past forty years, it has been regarded as an invaluable household remedy. It is a preparation that only requires to be taken in very small quantities, and a few doses of it administered in the early stages of a cold or cough will effect a speedy cure, and may, very possibly, save life. There is no doubt whatever that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has preserved the lives of great numbers of persons, by arresting the development of Laryngitis, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, and Pulmonary Consumption, and by the cure of those dangerous maladies. It should be kept ready for use in every family where there are children, as it is a medicine far superior to all others in the treatment of Croup, the alleviation of Whooping Cough, and the cure of Colds and Influenza, ailments peculiarly incidental to childhood and youth. Promptly made in dealing with all diseases of this class is of the utmost importance. The loss of a single day may, in many cases, entail fatal consequences. Do not waste precious time in experimenting with untried remedies, while the malady is constantly gaining a deeper hold, but take at once the speediest and most certain cure.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. PREPARED BY DR. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists.
